Additional Tax Increases to Meet Budget Proposed by Mills

RECOMMENDS LEVIES ON GAS, ELECTRICITY, OTHER PRODUCTS

MILLS ESTIMATED THAT SAVINGS IN EXPENDITURES AID IN BALANCING BUDGET

Washington, Feb. 16—(UP)—Sec. of the Treasury Mills today recommended additional tax increases to raise $337,000,000 more needed to balance the budget, including taxes on gasoline, electricity and natural and illuminating gas.

Mills estimated that savings in government expenditures of $118,000,000 would bring down the total to be raised to balance the budget to $1,223,000,000 and submitted his proposals on that basis.

Add to Gas Taxes

The additional taxes recommended included:

One half of one per cent more on corporation income taxes, making a 13 per cent rate, estimated to raise $17,000,000.

Further increases in surtax rates, estimated to raise $50,000,000.

One cent a gallon tax on gasoline, estimated to raise $165,000,000.

Seven per cent tax on electricity and manufactured and natural gas, estimated to raise $94,000,000.

An increase from 3 to 4 cents in the tax on stock transfers, estimated to raise $11,000,000.

Discussing the possibility of employing some form of general sales tax, Mills said:

"We hold to our original opinion that a limited group of selected excise taxes is a preferable method of raising the required revenue, not only from the standpoint of administration but also from that of basic economic considerations.

Would Bring $600,000,000

"It is the opinion of the treasury that it would be possible to administer such a tax provided there would be substantially no exemptions. Adequate administrative authority would be required and the tax would be kept at a low level, say two per cent."

Estimating the amount of revenue from such a tax, Mills placed the figure at about $600,000,000.

Falls Inmate

Hangs Self from Door

Ortonville, Minn., Feb. 16—(UP)—Joseph Langering, a patient at the state hospital for the insane, today hanged himself to death from the hinge of a door. Mrs. Langering made a discovery when she found her husband hanging from a bed sheet, hospital records said. Her home was formerly at Ripley, Minn.

Mellon, Mills and Ballantine Take Oath

Uncle Sam completed the recently announced reorganization of his staff when this picture was taken in Washington, D. C. Frank A. Birgfield, chief treasury clerk, is shown swearing in former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon as ambassador to the Court of St. James, Ogden Mills as secretary of the treasury and Arthur Ballantine as undersecretary. Left to right, are Birgfield, Mellon, Mills and Ballantine.

Coolidge Unconcerned About Everything Except the Town Postmastership

Washington, Feb. 15. — (UP) — They're telling this one now about Calvin Coolidge.

Postmaster General Walter Brown, one of the administration's inner circles on things political, went to Northampton recently for conference with the former president. During the conversation, which supposedly dealt with the approaching national campaign, Mr. Coolidge interjected casually:

"By the way, Mr. Brown, where are the Republican and Democratic parties going to hold their conventions this year?"

Chicago, as most everyone knows, was chosen by both parties a good while ago.

Brown inquired if there were any Washington matters in which he might assist the former president.

Mr. Coolidge pondered some time, then, according to the now-current story, he replied:

"Yes, I am wondering what is going to be done about the Northampton postmastership."

EARLY ACTION BY SENATE ON EMERGENCY BILL TO LIBERALIZE CURRENCY IS VIEWED AFTER OVERWHELMING VOTE IN HOUSE

Knutson Introduces Bill for Fur Breeding Farm in This Section

Washington, Feb. 16—(UP)—The emergency bill to ease federal reserve credit and currency restrictions upon the basis of which the stock market recorded the most active bull trading in many months reached the most active bull trading in many months reached the senate today from the House.

The House passed the bill by an overwhelming vote yesterday. Senate leaders said they hoped to vote today. The bill probably will have to go to conference but is expected to become law this week.

Carrying the almost unanimous endorsement of the House, which passed it 350 to 15 late yesterday after three hours' consideration, the Steagall-Glass bill moved today to the senate, where it is scheduled to be taken up tomorrow. Fairly prompt action is expected there, with prospects the bill will be in President Hoover's hands by the end of the week or earlier.

Not even in war days has congress seen such quick action as yesterday. Speaker Garner jammed the bill through under the most drastic procedure at his command. No amendments were permitted, and the bill stood today as it came from the House banking and currency committee.

No such unusual procedure is possible under liberal senate rules. There is a controversy there, too, between the bill's sponsor, Senator Glass, dem. Va., and Senator Walcott, repn. Conn., regarded as President Hoover's representative on financial legislation.

Glass and Walcott thought today they would be able to work out their differences, however without the necessity of a floor fight. They differ over two amendments inserted by Glass, one of which would limit loans to individual banks to those with capitalization of $500,000 and less, and the other providing that loans to groups of five or more banks would be permitted only where they have no assets eligible for rediscount. Bankers have objected strenuously to both amendments.

The House bill contained no such restrictions.

Sailors, Who Abandoned Sea for Air to Bring New Laurels to Navy by Trans-Atlantic Hop, Land in Brig

New York, Feb. 16.—(UP)—Two sea-going buddies with high-flying ideas were scheduled to come up for court-martial today in the Brooklyn navy yard on charges of desertion.

They went A. W. O. L. when their ship, the U. S. S. Louisville, sailed for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, two weeks ago. They planned to hop across the Atlantic in a second-hand plane.

Neither job is a licensed pilot. Their plans, strictly on the quiet, were:

To take off early yesterday and follow the 30th meridian to Portugal to win more glory for the navy, and so justify the trust their shipmates on the "Louie" had shown by contributing $800.

Their plane was wheeled out of the hangar. They started with Frank Cushing, 27, Seattle, Wash., at the controls and Andrew Soos, 22, Fairfield, Conn., in the rear of the cabin with a stack of maps and charts.

The airplane careened crazily; the only flying either had done before was an aerial photographing—and skidded off the concrete runway. One landing wheel was smashed.

So ended the classic flight across the Atlantic. The two gobs still owe $10 on the airplane. They had 80 cents between them when they landed—in the brig.

"I guess we are a little goofy about flying," said Cushing.

EASTERN GROUP IN MOVEMENT PARTY SWITCH ON STAND

PRESIDENT HOOVER LOOMS AS OBSTACLE IN PATH OF ANTI-PROHIBITIONISTS

Washington, Feb. 16—(UP)—The inner leadership of the republican party is seriously divided over prohibition.

Bunt unlike their democratic contemporaries, when republicans fall out they issue no statements. For the first time in three presidential campaigns, his troublesome specter of the foaming glass of beer threatens to thrust its unwelcome presence into a republican national convention. These differences, being important, have in true republican style been confined to whispers.

Fess Declines Comment

One of the most prominent republican dyes in the party said—privately and in low conversation—he feared an attempt would be made on the convention floor to commit the republicans to a referendum.

Raymond Pitcairn of Philadelphia, representing, he said, a group of anti-prohibition republicans, has just warned national leaders that some prominent contributors plan to give their money to the democrats because of the prohibition issue.

National Chairman Fess declined to take notice of this warning. He said that to answer it would only stir up controversy.

It is significant that the treasurer of the republican national committee, James R. Nutt, is in favor of changing the party's position. This again is a subject for stage whispers. Contributions are coming hard this year.

An eastern group—not composed of professional wets—is arguing strongly that the party must switch to a stand more acceptable to anti-prohibitionists.

Among those who have in conference urged such a change are Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman for New York; Daniel Pomeroy, national committeeman for New Jersey; J. Henry Roraback, national committeeman for Connecticut and James Francis Burke, counsel for the national committee. Even President Hoover's unofficial campaign manager, Postmaster General Brown, is understood to be receptive.

Hoover Defends Amendment

President Hoover, committee to defense of the 18th amendment, is an obstacle for the anti-prohibitionists. They realize it would be difficult for him to change. Their suggestion is to have the convention act without consulting him.

The outcome of such a fight would be problematical. Delegates of states most likely to favor a prohibition change fall more than 100 short of a convention majority. A well-planned fight, with a skillfully drawn proposal, might uncover unexpected support.

OVERTHROW IRISH PRESIDENT FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

BELIEVE DEFEAT OF COSGROVE BY DEVALERA WOULD PRECIPITATE ANOTHER CIVIL WAR

Dublin, Irish Free State, Feb. 16—(UP)—Eamon De Valera's Fianna Fail party with its tremendous strength in the rural districts may overthrow President William T. Cosgrove and his government parliament (Dail) majority in today's general election.

Spells Trouble for Britain

And a De Valera victory is believed to mean more trouble for Great Britain.

The assassination Sunday of Patrick Reynolds, government candidate, and McGeehan, a detective, has resulted in dispatch of troops to many electoral areas.

De Valera, fiery republican leader, has made Ireland's complete independence from the British crown the outstanding campaign issue. Cosgrove stands for allegiance to England. If De Valera should win a majority in the Dail, one of his first acts, he has stated repeatedly, will be to abolish the oath of allegiance to England and relieve Irish citizens, chiefly farmers, of a debt to England which is heavier per capita than the war reparations which Germany owes the allied powers. Cosgrove has reiterated his belief that if De Valera comes into power he will yield to the extremists who would not hesitate to wage another civil war with England. De Valera in his campaign has promised Irish business a high tariff, development of a home market and fostering of home industries.

NONPARTISAN GROUP LAUNCHES FIGHT FOR STATE INCOME TAX

STATE-WIDE MOVEMENT INAUGURATED FOR SUPPORT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16—(UP)—Selection of a non-political state wide committee to campaign for a state income tax amendment was started today by proponents of the income tax proposal.

At a meeting presided over by State Senator Robert C. Bell, Detroit Lakes, chairman of Governor Floyd B. Olson's committee of 17 to study tax reforms, a group of farm and political leaders laid the following plans:

1. Raising of a $10,000 fund to campaign for the income tax law;

2. Linking farmers and representatives of farm organizations in an active campaign;

3. Combating the anti-income tax campaign which was said to be already underway.

The new statewide committee would consist of one representative from each of the nine congressional districts, together with representatives of farm organizations.

J. S. Jones, Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, and Henning Nelson of the Farmers' Union Terminal Association, assured the meeting today of the support of their farm organizations.

Senator E. L. Regnier, Marshall, outlined the fight of anti-income tax groups.

BOOTLEGGER SHOT AS H-JACKERS RIDDLE CAR WITH BULLETS

Ortonville, Minn., Feb. 16—(UP)—Found critically wounded in his bullet perforated automobile on the highway between Ortonville and Dumont, Joe McGinnes, 24, alleged liquor runner, told authorities today that he had been shot in a hi-jacking attempt.

Sheriffs of Traverse and Stevens counties, however, grilled Pete Behrens, 65, bachelor, and Henry Huizinga, a friend who was apprehended in Behrens' shack, on their story of an attempted hold up in which Behrens claimed he shot McGinnes in self defense.

According to the story Behrens told authorities, McGinnes appeared at one window of the Behrens shack, poked a gun through the window and demanded money. Two companions were with McGinnes, Behrens said.

Behrens said he extinguished a lamp, seized a gun and fired at McGinnes. McGinnes' two companions carried him away, Behrens said. McGinnes came here from Omaha.

RETIRED MARINE HEAD SAYS U. S. OFFICERS ARE IN RIGHT SPOT SHANGHAI OUTBREAKS

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)

Newton Square, Pa., Feb. 16—(UP)—When the Japanese start using gas, the Chinese defense of Shanghai will cease, according to Major General Smedley D. Butler, formerly ranking major general of the United States marine corps.

"No matter how bravely the Chinese may fight," he declared, "They can't overcome their lack of gas masks and proper protection against gas attacks."

"If the newly landed Jap regulars open up the expected battle with a gas barrage, it looks to me as though the forts at Woosung will fall. An entrenched army, covered and protected by sandbag emplacements, can resist an artillery attack for many days."

"But when gas comes drifting over the trenches, then it's a different story. 'Another angle to a possible gas attack is the fact that gas is damn hard to control once it's released.'

"One thing sure is that our marine commander and the colonel of the 31st infantry are in a hell of a tight place."

"I was in just such a spot in 1927, '28 and '29," he grinned, "when I commanded a marine brigade in Shanghai and I should know."

How Uncle Sam Lands Battle Forces

Hawaii War Maneuvers Reveal Tricks in Moving Soldiers, Sailors, Horses, Guns and Kitchens From Ship to Shore

Wily old Uncle Sam has a bag of tricks up his sleeve and he revealed some of them in landing an armed force, equipped with everything from field pieces to rolling ki teens, at Hawaii in the annual army and navy maneuvers. These pictures show how he did it. "Heave, ho," shouted sailors from the U. S. S. Nevada and soldiers from the 30th infantry as they unloaded an escort wagon on the beach at the upper left. If anybody rocks the boat, a wet time will be had by the infantrymen shown in the lower picture going ashore in a barge from the U. S. S. Tennessee. And those aren't the horse marines you see at the right, but horses and mules being transported to land on a navy barge. The animals are taught to swim, if it becomes necessary. The pictures were taken by the U. S. Army Signal Corps.

als, R. H. Paine and V. E. Quamstrom opposed it.

City Attorney W. J. Swanson previously stated that the cost of the books would not exceed $20, that they would be the permanent property of the office and would be open to use by the police and municipal judge.

FORMAL OPENING OF STUDEBAKER SHOW ROOMS ON FEB. 22

The formal opening of the showrooms and service station of the Lively Auto Co., recently appointed Studebaker dealer here, will take place at the new Studebaker headquarters at 514-516-518 Laurel street on February 22, according to an announcement made today by Stewart C. Mills, president.

"The display of new cars will give motorists an opportunity to view some of the latest developments in the automotive industry, including Free Wheeling with positive gear control, the most talked of engineering advancement of the day. Developed and perfected by Studebaker engineers, it is incorporated throughout Studebaker's line of three great Eights—The President Eight, The Commander Eight and The Dictator Eight—as well as in the new low-priced Studebaker Six introduced at the New York Automobile Show this year.

"With its advantage of a million-dollar proving ground and huge research laboratories at South Bend, Ind., Studebaker is noted for its progressive engineering policies. The new features of design and construction incorporated in its four great lines of cars should be of particular interest to every motorist in Brainerd for they constitute an important step in modern transportation.

COMMISSIONERS IN CITY TO VIEW SITE FOR BETTER STREET

County Commissioners Frank J. Lowey and John Holvick, representing Brainerd, will make a personal inspection of Eighth avenue N. E., prior to the March meeting of the county board for the purpose of determining the work necessary to improve it. City Engineer R. T. Campbell reported to the city council last night.

The street will be a popular connecting link between State Trunk Highway and State Aid No. 3 or the so-called Merrifield road.

The city council desires the aid of the county board in improving the street to care for the heavy traffic anticipated over it. The county commissioners deferred action on granting support until the March meeting when city representatives appeared before the board Feb. 7.

Beware of a fat that smokes easily

Protect your digestion with Crisco—the fat that deep fries without smoking

Do you follow the old rule—"When a fat smokes it's ready to fry in"? Don't! Remember that a smoking fat is burning. And a burnt fat is decomposed fat—indigestible.

Protect your digestion by frying with a fat that does not smoke at correct deep-frying heat. Crisco does not smoke if you follow the bread-cube test (see Hawaiian Fritter Recipe).

Crisco-fried foods are easy to digest. Why? Because Crisco itself is digestible. It is not just a "compound." It is a pure, wholesome fat, made by Crisco's own secret process to keep sweet, fresh and digestible!

Serve Hawaiian Fritters tonight. Your husband will love their fruitiness. And if his digestion tends to be touchy, he'll thank you for frying them in digestible Crisco!

HAWAIIAN FRITTERS

1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1 cup bananas, cut in small cubes
3/4 cup crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 egg (beaten)
2 teaspoons melted Crisco
CRISCO for frying

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add pineapple juice, lemon juice, beaten egg and Crisco. Mix well, then stir in bananas and pineapple. Remember that tallowy fats that smoke at correct frying heat make foods hard to digest. Fry in Crisco, the wholesome fat that makes food digest easily. Drop by tablespoons in deep hot Crisco (360° to 375° F.) at a heat that browns inch cube of bread in 60 seconds. (Crisco won't smoke at this proper frying heat. Fry about 3 minutes and drain on unglazed paper. Dust with powdered sugar and serve as a dessert—or serve plain with meat. Simply strain the Crisco to free it of particles that might char. Then it can be used for frying again and again, as Crisco never carries the odor or taste of one fried food to another.

THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS

At these 3 danger points, ordinary fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily.

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible
CRISCO [IN VACUUM TIGHT CAN] stays fresh and digestible

REDUCED RAIL RATES TO BRAINERD---

Brainerd, the strategic city of the Minnesota lake region at the gateway to the state's tourist paradise, should be entitled to low railroad rates offered from all sections of the country. It would undoubtedly increase tourist traffic into Brainerd and would help to popularize this section with the tourist trade.

This matter, The Daily Dispatch believes, should receive earnest consideration from every civic organization or group in Brainerd and the surrounding territory. Brainerd can secure these rates. Duluth, after considerable negotiation, succeeded in convincing the railroads that it would be to their advantage to designate that city as a summer tourist point. Why not Brainerd? Obviously, this section has just as many attractions of a worthwhile nature as its rival section.

In addition to the increased passenger traffic, the mutual benefit to be derived would aid Brainerd in obtaining valuable publicity and promotion through the medium of railroad folders and booklets. Benefits would reflect both ways with both railroads and the Brainerd lake region sharing in the returns.

The rates applicable to Duluth will go into effect May 15 and continue until October 31 each year. Should the same be secured for Brainerd it would indeed be a master stroke.

We exhort the chamber of commerce, Lions club, Rotary club and all other civic organizations to immediately get behind the idea and give it their earnest consideration. They cannot be subdued merely by lack of encouragement from the railroads at first glance but must push it until it becomes a reality.

RETURN C. OF C. BALLOTS---

It behooves every member of the chamber of commerce to return the ballot sent them last week asking them to state their opinion relative to the proposed change in quarters. Nine hundred dollars is at stake and this sum, representing not quite half of the annual budget, should prompt the immediate attention of members.

There are two arguments to the question. One is that if the chamber of commerce is going to become a strictly business organization, which it should be and not a social undertaking, the proposed change would be in order. On the other hand, if the chamber of commerce wishes to entertain small groups including small conventions, meetings, etc., the present quarters form a logical meeting place.

Ballots must be back into the hands of the chamber of commerce by Thursday. It is not final action and will not be considered final. But, it is the valuable sentiment of the members that undoubtedly will form the basis of any action on the matter to be taken by the board of directors.

THE ISSUE OF INTOLERANCE---

We cannot afford to temporize with paternalism.

The only way to keep the Federal government from unjustified interference with the rights of the states and of individuals is to fight every move, of whatever kind, that would extend the power of a centralized bureaucracy.

It is true beyond question that many of the so-called "reforms" of recent times have come about, not because of the popular will but because organized minorities have seized political power and have frightened elected officials into actions that are against their better judgment.

Intolerance is a great issue. Those who wish to regulate their neighbors have had a day of triumph. Since the turn of the century the trend has been away from State and individual rights, toward centralization of power at Washington. The Federal government has taken on police functions never intended for it by the founders.

There is hope that now, at last, the trend is the other way. We have learned that if we try to mind other people's business, other people will mind ours. And there is a strong and growing percentage of good American citizens who are convinced that we need less law, not more, and that it is time for a return to fundamental principles of human liberty.

THE DEADLY MACHINE GUN---

The tremendous advantage that the invention of the rapid-fire gun gave to the defensive side in warfare was never much better illustrated than in the recent fighting around Shanghai.

One man with a machine gun can be the equal of a whole battalion, under certain circumstances. A bombardment that reduces the numbers of a defensive force to a tenth of their original strength is utterly useless if it leaves a few machine guns that can come into action as soon as the attacking wave gets under way.

It was this unsuspected fact that made the World War battles so frightfully costly. The Japanese, evidently, are discovering it all over again. Until some way of coping with the machine gun is found, the offensive is paralyzed.

AN INTERESTING CONTRAST---

It was interesting to learn that an aviator co-operating with the Carnegie Foundation archaeologists at the ruined Maya city of Chichen-Itza, in Yucatan, recently flew a "windmill" plane over the jungle and made a landing on one of the ancient terraces that are now being excavated.

In the first place, this will be a great help to the archaeologists, as food and other supplies can now be brought in in a fifth of the time formerly required. But it is even more interesting for the contrast it affords.

The Mayan ruins in Central America date back into the dark days of pre-Columbian history. When we investigate them we come into contact with the incredibly old. And there, right in the midst of them, lands an ultra-modern "windmill." Could the twentieth century come into a more striking juxtaposition with the ghost of the past?

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, who works by day as a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her 12-year-old brother, MIKE. Irresponsible Molly has long since spent the fortune left by her English husband and the two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work at night as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. She goes to Dreamland and interviews JACOB SALOMON, who offers her a job on condition that she supply her own evening dresses. She has no evening dress.

Back at the store again, Ellen begins to cry in her bitter disappointment. STEVEN BARCLAY, owner of the store, sees her and asks her to come to his office. When she tells him of her problem he offers to give her a dress but she refuses to accept it. He then offers to lend her one of the dresses worn by the models. She borrows a lovely white tulle dress.

Ellen is half-pleased, half-frightened by Barclay's obvious interest in her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

WHEN Ellen accepted Steven Barclay's offer to drive her to Dreamland she did so with the same naturalness he had shown in extending the invitation.

But as Ellen sank back into the soft depths of dove-gray cushions and turned her rosy face to him he felt a pang as of anticipated pain. And he believed then that he had been unwise.

He had not known until then why he had been so uneasy and so rest less after Ellen had left his office that afternoon; he had not known why the routine business of the store had become so suddenly unimportant or why the hours had dragged so endlessly. But he knew now as Ellen shyly smiled at him that he felt that same light restlessness that he thought had left him years ago.

And that was impossible. He was 57. Ellen was young enough to be his daughter. Almost roughly he leaned forward and gave the driver directions for reaching Dreamland.

When he offered Ellen a cigarette and pulled out the lighter for her no one would have guessed that he imagined he had, in the brief space of seconds, put away from him a small, vague dream.

"I don't smoke," Ellen told him.

His brows went up quizzically.

"I thought all young girls smoked nowadays."

"Not all of them. I'm not well off enough to smoke."

At his look of surprise she explained. "You see the people we live among and, for that matter my family, too, are so poor that we must be respectable. On any debatable point—like smoking for women—we're all ultra-conservative. Not," she added still in that light strain, "that I lie awake nights longing to smoke. I don't like it really. If I did I'd smoke."

"I'm sure you would. But I'm rather glad you don't. I can't get used—"

HE broke off abruptly and thought that there was no use appearing in her eyes as an old fogey even if he were old enough to be her father. With Ellen's permission they drove through Central Park before going to the dancehall.

The limousine swished to a stop at the Casino where early diners, men and women in evening clothes, leaned across softly lighted tables talking and laughing. Ellen and her escort went inside for food and drinks. Neither of them was hungry.

Ellen looked around with wide-eyed pleasure at the other diners, successful men and lovely, well-dressed women. As her eyes returned to the handsome man opposite her she began to feel a singing in her heart.

What fun to be so rich! What fun to be driven in a limousine wherever you wanted to go! What fun to stop at a smart restaurant because you were thirsty, to be served by an impressed headwaiter, to have every wish anticipated.

Care and worries drifted away from her. The hurried, clattery morning with its clashing of milk cans and jangling alarm clocks seemed years away. Here there was only peace and beauty and leisure.

She began, did Ellen, to weave those swift dreams of girlhood, those dreams that need so little substance. Although Steven Barclay did not guess it his own shadowy figure moved through those fancies.

They drove almost quietly to Dreamland, absorbed in their separate thoughts. They stopped off Broadway. Ellen carefully picked up the box which held the precious dress and stretched out her hand to Barclay.

"I can't tell you," she said breathlessly, "how much I appreciate what you've done for me."

ABOVE them, through the open windows, came a clashing of brasses and a singing of strings. The orchestra at Dreamland was tuning up.

"I'm glad I could do it," Barclay replied.

He meant to stop there. But he heard himself saying what he had not intended to say.

"I would like to do a great deal more for you."

Ellen's heart throbbed queerly but her voice was steady as she told him that he had done a great deal too much already. She was self-conscious, a rare thing for her, as she climbed the stairs—self-conscious, and now that she was away from Barclay and what he stood for, a little dissatisfied with herself. How foolish to imagine that the fact Steven Barclay had lent her a dress meant anything except that he was a kind and generous man.

What did she know of him after all? He was rich and she had idly dreamed of becoming his young and adored wife, dreamed of the beauty that as Mrs. Steven Barclay she could bring into the lives of Myra and Molly and baby Mike. Dreamed, too, of herself in thin, gay frocks, never chosen for utility, moving in the pleasure spots of the world with never a thought of work or care.

She stepped into Dreamland and ran straight into Jacob Salomon. His face broke into a wide grin.

"Hello—you're back. And with the dress, too, I see. Quick work, kid."

Ellen's chin came up.

"I might as well tell you," she said coolly, "that I intend to work here only temporarily. For three weeks at the most."

"That's o. k. by me, kid. But since you're here I suppose you won't mind obeying the rules like the other girls. Or will you?"

"I won't," Ellen replied, ignoring his heavy-handed sarcasm.

"Guess this is the only one I didn't tell you about."

HE pointed to a sign on the bright pink plaster wall. Ellen read that the hostesses were permitted no conversation while dancing except "yes" or "no" in answer to questions. She turned her amazed face to Salomon.

"Does look funny," he conceded still grinning. "But there's good sound business back of it. The hostesses can talk when they're sitting at the tables with their partners. And when they're sitting they order things to eat, if the gents will stand for it. They mostly will."

"Oh," said Ellen blankly. "Our specialty's chop suey," he continued imperturbably. "Price $1—75 cents to me, 25 cents to the hostess. Thirty-five if the chop suey isn't eaten but that means you can't mess in it with your fork. It has to be good enough to serve again."

Ellen giggled.

"The joint's straight," he assured her seriously. "We don't serve liquor. We don't even admit men that have been drinking—much."

She was a little perturbed by his cheerful outspokenness but she meekly allowed him to pilot her to a cramped dressing room and to introduce her haphazardly to the other girls, some 15 in number. He used no last names. The girls were Alice and Dolly and Sunny and Anne and Mazie to him. Ellen assumed they were to be that to her.

Salomon had not knocked but nobody appeared surprised. A few of the girls reached for kimono with mechanical squeals of dismay but most of them serenely continued their toilets. One hard little youngster, whom Salomon called Tony, deliberately pulled her one-piece dress over her head and stood in brief shorts and a soiled satin uplift, grinning at them.

A brightly painted screen, gaudy with peacocks and pagodas, concealed a washstand in one corner of the small, hot room. Ellen went behind it to dress. The quarters were cramped and stifling but she did not mean to risk another of Salomon's unconventional entries.

When she emerged only two hostesses were left in the room—Tony and a languishing blond called Anise. They shared a wicker bench, where they had sat smoking and waiting to have a first-hand look at the new hostess.

Ellen looked toward Tony—and met a pair of coolly hostile eyes.

Thoughts for Lent

"I Am the Light of the World"

(Read John 8:12-19.)

Those who have not let themselves become aware of God as He is revealed in Christ, find that there is much darkness still around them. Christ alone seems able to fill the world with radiance that no nook or corner escapes the brightness of His coming. When we are in His Presence all the Universe seems to vibrate with Love. Even the experiences that, away from Him, are most dreadful, become in the light of His Being luminous with an eternal meaning. The cross of life is grimly tragic. Yet, when He is on that cross, it shines with a wondrous beauty. We can not bear to think of the world's suffering when we are confronted with its fearful pain. But—in some miraculous way—Christ transforms the world's suffering and dignifies its pain.

Prayer: O God, whose glory fills the Universe, we thank Thee that Thou hast sent Thy brightness to our lives in the life of Jesus Christ Thy Son. Help us when our way seems dark, and clear our sight, that even though we walk where shadows are, Thy light may shine before us as we go. Amen.

THE OPEN FORUM

To the Editor of The Brainerd Daily Dispatch:

The Yellow Danger

"All They that take the Sword, Shall Perish with the sword."

It is now about 100 years since we exhibited the first warship to the Japanese people. Before that time they were an uncivilized nation. The Christian nations desired to trade with them, and they were, against their wishes, forced to open their doors for us at the point of a gun. China kept her doors closed much longer, but at last had to open up. From that time their "civilization" started to develop fast.

We sent them missionaries and bibles, we sold them cannons, guns and powder and swords. We taught them how to use it all, yes, and we sent them whiskey that belonged also to our civilization.

Now after 100 years under our teaching, Japan is going to show her teachers that she has been a good student, that she has fully learned the ways of the civilized Christian world.

Japan has been very watchful. She has seen how we have done it in China, India, Asia and Africa. She has seen how England has killed and imprisoned millions of people struggling for freedom.

The Chinese have seen too. They are not so far behind the Japs. They have seen how we have taken foothold every where, and how we are developing our greed and robbing wherever we go. Now, Japan is only trying to follow in our footsteps. Is it any wonder she is not willing to listen to our peace talk? Has she any reason to believe we mean anything by it? We have taught her to fight, why should she not show us that she has been a good pupil?

We have long talked about the yellow danger. Why? Because when I looked John's banner, I saw that soon and no better would look me. If I had let John's brother alone, I would have had nothing to fear.

Would it be contrary to the rules and practices of the world if the yellow race turned the cannons we sold them and taught them how to use, against our own?

I hope we will be able to keep out, but if we do, it will be because the great miracle is going to happen—the miracle of the true Christian spirit.

When we look around us at all the poverty and starvation on one hand and the hoarded millions and billions on the other, that miracle does not seem so very near.

Russia may be able to keep out, but they have no capitalists over there. In spite of their lack of Christian religion, they have more peace spirit than we have. It is the god of greed that rules the god of war—and the capitalists.

There is one other hope, however, the money invested by our capitalists in the war-ridden European countries are proving to be "not so good" any more. The investments in the far east may not be worth what it will cost to protect the securities in spite of the fact, that the capitalists who are getting all the benefits, are paying only a small part of the cost.

The communist spirit of Russia is spreading rapidly in Japan and China, that should be a clear warning, also, to us Christians, to keep out. We capitalists can keep our good government unsundered and spotless at home, but we are in danger when we mix our affairs too much with the godless.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT 'THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH' IN AUD. THURSDAY, 8:15

JUNIOR CLASS TO PORTRAY SERENE SIDE OF AMERICAN YOUTH

Modern Youth! Are they as flippant, callous, and irresponsible as the average movie or story pictures them? Can it be possible that their only interest in life is themselves, that all of their thoughts center around trivial things?

Won't some one champion modern youth—show the critical world that there is something fine and true deep down inside them.

The Junior Class of B. H. S. accept such a challenge. Through the medium of 'The Goose Hangs High' they will show you that it isn't the little things that reveal character. That's the outer spirit of the time. But if deep inside there's truth, who are we to criticize? Maybe they're finer. They're more honest and unafraid.

Alice Rochford and Robert Ebert lose their (personality identity) and become Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ingals, the fond but slightly anxious parents (of this play). Perhaps you have noticed that for the past few days their usually serene brows have acquired a few furrows. These lines were caused no doubt by questions such as these: Why does Hugh (Robert Jackson) prefer to spend his holidays in New York? Are Lois and Bradley (Virginia Wilson and Howard Zander) as selfish as they seem? Should Bernard become involved in the crooked politics of the city in order to keep his position?

Enough to worry them, you say? Yes, indeed, but if you wish to know the solution to help them solve these questions, see 'The Goose Hangs High. You will congratulate Granny (Frances Reese—believe it or not) for her share in this solution; and after you have seen how charming and understanding Dagmar Carrol (Elizabeth Patterson) is about the whole affair you will understand why Hugh preferred to stay in New York for the holidays. You will want to punch the crooked politician, Mr. Kimberley (Cyril DeRosier)—which by the way Bradley does for us. You will be surprised to find that Alyce Little in the role of a middle aged gold-digger—(yes, that really is what she is); and did you know that Richard Rice is a social climber; that Gerald Olson wanted to start a green house; or that Sanford Shanks wanted to get a position in New York? Mary Hoffman in the role of Rhoda, take care of the welfare of this large family.

And—Oh!—you haven't heard about the most important member of the cast as yet. It certainly would not be right not to mention Dazzler. Who is he? That you will have to discover when you see the play. You will be sure to like him.

The Junior class expects to portray in this play the ups and downs of modern American family life. You can't afford to miss it. The tickets will be on sale by the members of the class at the reasonable prices of 25c for students and 35c for adults.

Hi-Y Luncheon and #### Meeting in Cafeteria

Last Wednesday noon at 12:15, the Hi-Y club held their weekly meeting in the school cafeteria. The following menu consisting of egg omelet, salad, rolls, milk, vegetable soup, and caramel pudding made a very delicious and well balanced meal.

Following the luncheon a short business meeting was held.

Due to the absence of the principal speaker of the evening, Mr. Penrose, the Tri-Hi confined its last meeting to the further discussion of how to conduct their weekly meetings. Slips were passed around to each girl for two suggestions of how to conduct interesting meetings and how to raise money. As the result of the suggestions offered, it was decided upon to hold a discussion meeting.

The next meeting will be a supper with Miss Cochran as the speaker.

Exchange

The seniors of Northfield high school, Northfield, Minn., will take their college aptitude test sometime next month.

The Fairmont Echo, Fairmont, Minnesota, publishes a very good "Strange But True" column.

"The Totem" is the name of the senior year-book of Owatonna high school. In keeping with the name the background will be based on Indian life.

"Nothing But the Truth" was the senior class play of Pergus Falls high school. The play was very well presented.

The Augsburg chorus and choral society, of Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, participated in a benefit concert given last night at Central Lutheran church for the relief of the unemployed. A number of instrumental and vocal soloists of the Twin Cities also took part in the program.

DWIGHT CURO AND BABE SKIBA SECURE CLASS PLAY LEADS

CAPTAIN APPLEJACK TO BE PRESENTED MARCH 18

On Tuesday and Wednesday the aspirants for the Senior class play character displayed their dramatic talents in competition with one another.

Ambrose the leading character will be played by Dwight Curo and the leading lady, Poppy, will be taken by Mildred Skiba. Dwight has taken part in many high school plays, sometimes playing villain and sometimes the dashing hero. This is the first dramatic venture for Mildred.

The supporting members of the cast are Marjorie Forsberg, Virginia Rowland, Margaret Casey, Barbara Zapffe, James Falconer, Harold Strickler, Bill Stout, John Folsom and Lyle Anderson.

The play is a Samuel French production written by Walter Hackett. Its popularity is increasing as evidenced by the great number of high schools selecting it for production this year.

Ambrose the leading character, tired of the dull and monotonous life which he is leading, upon the advice of a real estate agent, Jason, decides to sell his house and live an adventurous life.

Much interest is shown by the prospective purchasers in a secret panel supposedly concealing priceless jewels. Around this panel the entire action of the play centers. A discovery of the parchment in the panel left there many years ago by one of Ambrose's ancestors, proves to him that he is not the respectable citizen he thought, but a direct descendant of the Applejack pirate.

This thought, weighing upon his mind causes him to dream that he is back in the pirate days and a very interesting scene ensues. Upon waking, Ambrose, finds his house invaded by a gang of thieves, who have been attracted there by a fake parchment, circulated by Jason, the real estate salesman. The thieves are beaten off and Ambrose decides that a regulated life is much to be preferred after all.

The tentative date for the play has been set for Friday, March 18th. Tickets will go on sale presumably two weeks before that time by the members of the class.

Songs, Dec. Selections for Lincoln Program

Friday morning the pupils assembled in the auditorium to celebrate Lincoln's birthday. After a few announcements, Miss Tornstrom called for several declamation selections, given by Genevieve Peters, Dorothy Maghan, and Marion Newman.

The Girls' Glee club under direction of Mr. Ellertsen led the group in the singing of patriotic and civil war songs. "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie," and "Johnny Comes Marching Home" were a few of the songs.

Typing Classes Work for Speed in Order to Win Party

All the typing people who can't hammer off twenty-seven words per minute will have to give a party to those who excel in typing work. The party will be given in the cafeteria at the end of this six weeks and will be given by students under the typing speed necessary to qualify.

The typing classes are all working so they will be able to type at the required rate before the end of the six weeks.

JULIA'S EAR RING CAST BANQUETS

Last Tuesday evening at 6:30 the Model apartment was the scene of a banquet given by the cast who took part in "Cousin Julia's Ear Ring," given before the school a few weeks ago, and later for the Lowell P. T. A. The room was lighted with red tapers, and the rest of the decorations were carried out in Valentine fashion. Each of the guests received one of the carnations from the centerpiece for a favor. Music was had through the medium of Virginia Rowland's portable.

A few of the feminine members of the cast set the tables and decorated them, after the masculine members had brought them from the store room in the basement. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Halvorsen.

After devouring two chickens, two pies, two quarts of ice cream, potatoes, cranberries, peas, and all the other fancy fixings, the guests attended the movie at the Paramount theater. The guests included Miss Mathis, Lester Preston, Virginia Rowland, Harold Strickler, Frances Reese, Lyle Anderson, Marjorie Forsberg, Marie Erdmann, Florence Jones and Reuben Padgett.

WARRIORS TAKE TWO OUT OF THREE IN WEEKS PLAY

OVERWHELM PINE RIVER—TIRE SQUAD MAKE POOR SHOWING AGAINST BEMIDJI

(By EINO FREEMAN)

Though handicapped by a small floor, Brainerd routed the Pine River quint to the tune of 30-18. The northern cagers were reported to have been stronger than preceding seasons—with the result that the Warriors were under a mental handicap coupled with the absence of Foster, E. Wyle, and Templeton.

The small floor made it difficult for the invading offensive play. Pine River, though at an advantage on their own court, had much trouble in finding the hoop for more than a few field goals.

Leaving on a two day tour the B. H. S. basketball team found their first opposition with Bemidji, where they engaged the latter in a tilt only to meet disaster in a listless bout; score 17-6. The home fellows were still considerably handicapped by the absence of first squad men. They shot listlessly and their passing was very poor.

On the return trip the fellows stopped at Cass Lake to combat an inter-district five. The opposition proved quite weak, and Coach Dammann's brogades found little trouble in extracting a 38-14 victory.

Tonight the Little Falls quint will tour here to try to avenge the trimming they took from Brainerd on their own floor last month.

Do You Know?

That we have a Kaye Smith and a Woodrow Wilson in school? We'll be famous yet—maybe.

Why Dick Rice is so sleepy since he got back from Bemidji.

Why Alta Creger looks so happy?

That three of our high school girls are acting as temporary nurses at Frankenstein.

What attracts the girls in the east hall on the second floor?

Why bookkeeping room is so cold?

Why Maurice Larson likes to go to Crosby?

Just what they do in Brainerdian office on Mondays and Fridays.

What Kathleen Cardle was thinking so intently about at Brainerdian Monday night.

Mr. Penrose Addressed Rotarians Tuesday

Mr. Penrose, social science instructor outlined the social science program for the year to the Rotarians, last Tuesday noon. The report consisted of all the work that will be covered by his classes, economic, American government, and the science of social relation.

SOPHOMORE DECLAM CONTESTANTS CAPTURE HONORS IN LOCAL MEET

Night

A giant creeps up with the sunset
 His face, the flaming crimson of burning cities,
 His eyes, deep pools of gentle blackness.

He places one foot at the western horizon
 And places gingerly the other on the eastern shore,
 He gathers all the blossoms of the meadows

The golden ones with painted faces
 And throws them up over his head
 Beyond the reach of the deepness of his eyes.

And he draws the roar of the cities
 With thundering, throbbing zoom of silence.

To hypnotize human minds
 And plays with them, making them

Laugh, cry, love, hate, and kill
 Thrilling in his heart at his power,
 'Till the blonde God bursts in glory
 And he creeps softly away.

ROSE MARIE JOHNSON
 Teachers' Training Department

The sophomore class was well represented at declamation Friday evening when Genevieve Peters, Dorothy Maghan, and Marion Newman carried off first place in Dramatic, Humor and Oratory respectively.

Because of the weather only a small crowd gathered in the auditorium at 8 o'clock to witness the locals. Second places were won by Helen Flornabend, dramatic, Lester Preston, humor, and Robert Crust, oratory.

Other numbers were given by Marcelia Holm who rendered two delightful songs, and by the eight-grade glee club who also gave melodious selections.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the sub district declamation will be held. Aitkin, Little Falls, Pine River, Crosby-Ironton, Staples and Pequot will journey to Brainerd to attend this. A larger crowd is expected if the weather permits as several cars will motor to Brainerd from the different towns.

The judges were: Mr. Zapffe, Miss Franklin, Mrs. Rasch, Miss Williams, Mr. Chaldig, and Mrs. Patterson. Selections were marked on an entirely different basis this year.

PURDUE CRUSHES OHIO STATE TO BECOME BIG TEN THREAT

Little Falls Cagers, Playing Here Tonight, Feels Loss of Jackson Keenly

GOPHERS TROUNCED BY ILLINI DIMMING HOPE FOR HONORS

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(U.P.)—Purdue's threat to tumble Northwestern from undisputed lead in Big Ten basketball became a real menace today after the Boilermakers crushed Ohio state 43 to 26 and increased their hold on second place.

Michigan and Illinois also improved their standings in the four western conference games last night, the Wolverines jumping into third place by turning back Iowa, only team to beat Northwestern thus far, by a 40 to 22 score.

Illinois Pushed Minnesota into fourth place when it won 23 to 15, while Indiana handed Wisconsin its fifth defeat of the season, 33 to 21. All games were won on home floors.

Purdue's offense worked perfectly in the game with Ohio state and they piled up a 15 to 4 lead in the first 10 minutes. The score was 27 to 19 at the half.

The crucial game for the conference lead is Saturday night's contest between Purdue and Northwestern on the Boilermakers own floor.

All boys in Brainerd and the immediate vicinity will be permitted to race their dogs. Various events are being arranged by the Legion for the program.

Absence of snow prevented holding the derby last winter.

Dempsey to Chicago for Crucial Bout With Levinsky

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey returned to Chicago today for the most important test on his comeback trail which is reaping a golden harvest for the former heavyweight champion.

Dempsey, with three successive knockouts to his credit, will meet King Levinsky, ranking heavyweight, in a four-round bout with ten ounce gloves at the Chicago stadium Thursday night.

The outcome of the Levinsky bout promises to give the public a definite line on Dempsey's chance to make a real bid to win back the heavyweight title this summer.

Dempsey has appeared in 29 cities, boxed 81 opponents, and scored 28 knockouts since he started his exhibition tour in Reno Aug. 19.

In less than a round of fighting last night in Flint, Mich., Dempsey added two knockouts to his record. He stopped George Kohler, and finished Pat McLaughlin, 196, Waupaca, Wis., in one minute and 12 seconds with a series of lefts and rights to the head.

Olympic Games Deficit to Total Over $50,000

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 16.—(U.P.)—A deficit of $52,468.15 is shown in the report made public today by Willis Wells, chairman of the finance committee of the Olympic winter games committee.

Lake Placid is expected to assume the debt.

This town previously has indebted itself to the extent of $350,000, on which approximately $96,000 will be applied, the estimated gate receipts.

Expenses for running the games have amounted to $1,137,654.13 but a great part of this is in permanent improvements.

The New York state legislature is expected to help out to the extent of $100,000. The state appropriation to date has been $500,000.

DOWNRIVER BOYS TO GIVE BEST EFFORTS TO MAKE GAME GOOD

The Little Falls high school team will strive to give their best efforts in tonight's game with Brainerd high but fans should consider in watching the play that the downriver boys only yesterday helped to bury their "pal" and team mate, Donald Jackson, who succumbed to typhoid fever.

A Little Falls high school official had the following to say today in this respect:

"I am sorry to say the boys may not display their best brand of basketball. Jackson was as perfect an athlete as ever wore a high school uniform. He always trained to his utmost, gave all he had in every game and win or lose accepted the results in a most graceful manner. The other boys recognized this in Jackson and tried to be like him. These are some of the reasons why his loss is so keenly felt among our basketball players.

"They will do all they can tonight to make the game interesting but their thoughts will be elsewhere than on the game. They are a sad group of boys. Their physical condition is not in the best either, due to the fact that it has been impossible for them to practice since Tuesday."

The Little Falls team is hard hit by the loss of its guard but the memory of Jackson may on the other hand inspire the boys to new heights.

The Pine River-Brainerd preliminary originally scheduled was called off and a game between two high school teams scheduled for the start-er at 7 p. m.

300 ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING CREAMERY ASSOCIATION HERE

FINANCIAL REPORT INDICATES FINANCIAL GAIN OF $3,797 DURING 1931

Nearly 300 residents of farming communities in Crow Wing county were present today for the annual meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association at the farmers' room of the court house. One hundred and fifty of these were members of the association.

Free lunch was served those attending in the basement of the court house starting at 11:30 A. M.

The meeting started at 1 P. M. R. A. Trovatten, State Dairy and Food Commissioner who addressed a creamery association meeting at Aitkin this morning, arranged his schedule to talk here this afternoon. Election of officers of the association was scheduled to take place at 4 P. M. at the close of Trovatten's talk and the conducting of business and hearing reports.

A discussion was promised on the proposal of a number of farmers to ask that the association increase the scope of its activities to the handling of feeds.

The treasurer's report of the association for the year closing December 31, 1931, as submitted by August Nelson showed earnings of $3,797.52 for the last year.

During the year 1,593,550 pounds of cream were received, 443,608 pounds of butterfat received, 18,015 pounds of butterfat sold in cream and 425,593 pounds of butterfat churned. Pounds of butter sold were divided in the following: patrons, 21,819; local, 183,663; shipped, 316,942.

RESUME POURING OF CONCRETE ON RIVER BRIDGE NEXT WEEK

With the concrete on Pier 4 poured, its superstructure and base in, contractors concentrated on preparation work today for the pouring of concrete the early part of next week on Pier 3 at the new Mississippi river bridge on Main street. Four piers are to be constructed as basic supports for the State Trunk Highway No. 2 span.

Thirty men are employed at the construction. The principal activity centers about the driving of hardwood piles and the sinking of cofferdams.

Silver-tinted grease-paint is becoming popular for adorning the rims of the eyes in Paris. The new fad is for evening dress only.

Numerous tests indicate that no snake ever strikes a greater distance than about three-fourths of its length.

February! The shortest month in point of days, but the longest in point of values. That sums up the situation here in Brainerd. Here are many interesting bits of information, gathered from your local stores and business men. Read every word!

FEBRUARY—THE MONTH

of "hearts and flowers". The language of love and the language of flowers has always been the same sentiment—the language of one is the language of the other. What, then, could be more suitable, this month, a month when reticence and restraint is thrown aside—than flowers, either in bouquets or corsages from the Brainerd Green House. Just phone your order if you wish and they will be delivered at the exact time you want them to arrive. Make flowers your mute but meaningful messenger.

THE SEASON OF "HEARTS"

And with it comes one of the most remarkable events you've ever found. The J. C. Penney Store is brightened up in holiday fashion, giving its customers a new idea—a 98c event—the "heart of a dollar." Right now, ladies, you can find some of the best values of the year. White goods, hosiery, shoes, lingerie, men and boys work clothes, blankets, rayon sheets, and oh—just ever so many fine bargains. You'd better plan on some strenuous shopping, for when you go into the J. C. Penney Store you are going to find some values you didn't expect. Give the "heart of your dollar" a chance to help you!

FEBRUARY IS THE MONTH

to shop for your complexion. Prepare for March with its blustery winds. At H. P. Dunn Drug Store you'll find just the right cold cream to cleanse the skin and the right skin cream to keep it smooth and free from chaps—the chap weather causes, you know. Browse around and see the other cosmetics—their display is perfect—lip rouge, rouge, creams, powders, lotions, etc. Just take a pencil and write down all the various cosmetics you know are made, then check each one you should have to "do yourself justice." Well, you'll find everything you need at the H. P. Dunn Drug Store in the Yardley line of cosmetics. Mr. Dunn himself is somewhat of a specialist and can suggest the right tints for you—whether you need dark, medium, light or neutral shades in cosmetics.

"IT WAS SOME SURPRISE"

—that's what I heard a Brainerd girl exclaim the other day. So, as usual, I stopped to get the low-down. And what do you think? That girl is engaged and her Mother has given her carte-blanc in the kitchen for a while so she can do a little practicing! And on her first trip down to the A. & P. Food Store, she said she never before realized that there were so many foods available! She said her mother always had a varied menu but she hadn't thought much about how it was accomplished! Yes, indeed, you'll find variety a-plenty at the A. & P. Store. Good substantial every day foods, party fancies, knick-knacks (as Dad calls 'em). And say, the vegetable department at the A. & P. Store always looks like a verdant green garden. You're always assured of fresh fruits and vegetables at the A. & P. And do your shopping there, girl-about-to-be-married—good luck will surely stay with you!

PARLOR GRANDS

are in the height of popularity just now and it's so easy to have one according to Mr. Hall at the Hall Music House. Prices on highest grade instruments—such as Kimball, Everett and Gulbranson, also Hobart N. Cable—are now at their lowest point in history, and your upright will be taken in as a substantial payment. The Hall Music House without question has the peer of parlor grands and now is the time to buy.

OF COURSE, YOU

Brainerd husbands want to give the wife a gift this month of love and you've already tendered the traditional lace Valentine, so why not give her something for the house. I'd suggest an end table, mirror, occasional chair, boudoir chair, lamp, rug (it doesn't need to be a large one, she'll appreciate a throw rug just as much) or maybe a breakfast set. Better yet, drop in at the Patek Furniture Store and look around, or ask for help in deciding upon some piece of furniture. Surprise her this month with something really useful and attractive. Patek's is the place to go!

IF I WERE A MAN!

Yes sir, if I were a man I'm very sure I'd pay special attention to my spring hat selection. The first thing I notice in masculine apparel is his hat. And I've heard other girls say the same thing. I just wish you'd pause at the Peterson Clothing Company and see the display of Stetson hats. If I am any judge they have some good looking hats! Quite a variety of colors—wide enough to suit any complexion. The rounded brim seems to predominate. Mr. Peterson is a Stetson enthusiast. "We have carried the Stetson for many years," he says, "and I know their quality."

IT IS JUST ABOUT THIS

time of the school year that the first year typewriting student is beginning to really accomplish wonders on the typewriter—and they'll accomplish far more with a typewriter at home—the Brainerd Office Supply Company has L. C. Smith, Corona and Underwood typewriters—the Corona is a portable you know and I'll vouch for it as being one of the best. I'm somewhat of a typing expert myself—maybe you wouldn't believe it—but I even taught the subject in a business college and feel as though I know my machines and students. You'll be surprised how much your son or daughter will practice typing if they have a machine at home—and your business letters will be typed and carry stenographic initials. Better see about purchasing a typewriter.

I'VE JUST BEEN THINKING

that if everybody in Brainerd and the surrounding community should suddenly become absolutely satisfied with everything, what a calamity it would be! So make that dissatisfaction of yours work a little hard and don't be satisfied unless you have a savings account at the First National Bank. Even then you won't be satisfied—because after you start a savings account you won't be satisfied until it grows a little larger each week or each month. It's heaps of fun, anyhow—just to see how much you can save and still have all you need and want. You know, it's the small change, pennies, nickels and dimes that we squander. Watch them—it will please the First National Bank people immensely to know you're acquiring the habit of saving!

IF YOU'RE ENTERTAINING

your bridge club at luncheon, why not plan some decoration—or if it's Colonial and George Washington decorations you prefer—all well and good. Phone the Russell Dairy folks and tell them what you want—hearts moulds, hatchet moulds, or any other fancy you might decide upon. You'll be more than pleased with the results—everyone will talk of your luncheon for weeks. The Russell Dairy people can make a number of different and clever moulds.

LUMBER AND MORE LUMBER—

Just go into the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Company and see the stacks of lumber—2x4's are really all I'm familiar with, and then have only a speaking acquaintance. But, Mr. Geist can tell at a glance what each piece is and that's not all—he knows how it was planed and whatever else was done to it. If you need lumber for anything, go to him and he'll tell you just exactly how much, what kind and how to use it. And while you're there ask about proper insulation for both summer and winter.

MAYBE IT'S YOUR TURN

to entertain the bridge club—if it is, I'd suggest planning a George Washington party—it won't be much trouble—phone Mr. Van Essen at Van's Cafe or better yet, just drop in and talk it over with him and make all your plans then. Doesn't matter a bit whether you have four or fourteen tables of bridge—your tables will be lovely in their Washington decorations and you'll be free of all responsibility—you'll enjoy your own bridge party much more than if you entertained at home. Just leave it to Mr. Van Essen—everyone will remember your party.

QUAINTLY REMINISCENT

of grandmother's days with the open fireplace and swinging crane, are the little pudgy, squat pewter creamers and sugar bowls I found at the Sedlock Jewelry Store. Gleaming candle sticks—mayonnaise bowls and gravy boats! Covered vegetable dishes—water pitchers! Colonial patterns in all the pewter makes it especially attractive! For bridge prizes or to add a gleam to your home select pewter at the Sedlock Jewelry Store. If you Brainerd housewives wish to complete a set of pewter or add something to your silverware now is the time—jewelry prices are hitting bottom, too, without lessening the high quality the Sedlock Jewelry Company always maintains.

EVERY COMMUNITY HARBORS

A few people who indulge themselves in art work of various kinds. There is, I believe, an artistic vein in most of us, and what a joy it is to develop it. In this connection, I am very much impressed with the D. E. Whitney store. It isn't often you find a store in a city of Brainerd's type, equipped to give such art service. Mr. Whitney carries a full line of artist's supplies, including oils, water colors, brushes, etc. Also they do framing, and have a remarkable selection of mouldings to suit any type of picture. Incidentally, I would like to mention the "miniature frames" in dull gold—extremely attractive and artistic. In selecting a gift for a friend who is artistically inclined, I couldn't think of a better opportunity than the Whitney store to make the selection.

JUST A WORD TO ANY

young man who happens to be "in dutch" with the girl friend! You know, this is the month of "hearts and flowers" and I'm just suggesting that you drop in at Johnsons Pharmacy and buy a box of Whitman candies for "her." Fellows, if you can't "make up" with one of those boxes of candy she just doesn't love you. Or, if you want to give her something she can keep—look at the Parker Life Time pens—the month of "hearts and flowers" is a fitting time for a lovely gift!

I HEARD A BRAINERD LADY

say the other day, I feel like a new person since Dr. Herzog treated my feet. Pain in the heels, toes, arches or even in the calves of the legs or back may be due to strained ligaments or to locking of the small joints in the feet. Dr. E. C. Herzog, Osteopathic Physician, has specialized in this important field and is doing notable work in the correction of foot troubles. Osteopathy secures and insures physical orderliness in the feet as elsewhere in the body. It makes feet normally active and naturally happy. It sets feet free. Beauty is just two feet high.

I AM AN ENTHUSIAST

on costume jewelry. Shops are featuring it everywhere, and it is no longer a fad. It seems to grow in popularity every year—and more beautiful. A very plain dress can be made extremely attractive with just the right touch of color, and you can always get the right touch. I was very much interested in the line of costume jewelry at the Geo. F. Murphy Dry Goods store. For gift purposes I can't think of anything more appropriate than costume jewelry, and there is never any danger of an over-supply. Several strands of beads are none too many for any lady. I'm really anxious for you to see this display at the Geo. F. Murphy Dry Goods store.

FRESH FRUITS AID

digestion and stimulate the appetite for other foods. That must be why we like fresh fruit cocktails with our dinners—try an orange and grapefruit cocktail tomorrow night for dinner—it's the most simple of all cocktails—all you'll have to do is go to the Laurel Fruit Company and get your oranges and grapefruit. Mix equal parts of diced orange and grapefruit pulp. Sprinkle with sugar and a little lemon juice. Place on ice until chilled then fill chilled glasses just before serving. Garnish the glasses with wedges of fresh or preserved pineapple and a candied or Maraschino cherry. Results? You have a lovely dish to serve and you're serving something that is good for the whole family. You'll find other fresh fruits at the Laurel Fruit Company, too.

May I offer a general suggestion? Many times you have need for information about certain types of merchandise or service. The merchants represented here in my department would be delighted to have you drop in at any time to get such information. It is yours for the asking.

Yours,

Betty Lane
